THE PRESIDENTS REPORT

Fellow Lizards

At the end of the 97/98 season, I would like to thank the committee and members for their support in a memorable year. As a club, we are in a solid financial and social position, which will be maintained in the new year.

As always, I got my fair share of ribbing, which is more than par for the course for the President and this embodies the spirit of the Lizards. It is more than a social golf club; it is a club for mates.

The only low point of the year was the passing of Lizards members Lance Try and Harry Warner. Lance was a Founding Member and a Life Member. Andy said "The last time I saw dad smile was when I was reading him the "Flat Out Like"." Once again this epitomises the camaraderie and companionship of Lizards. We'll miss them.

The third Sunday of the month is blocked out on most members calenders and one member even arranged his wedding and honeymoon around Lizards Sundays. I don't know of any other club where this type of dedication is the rule rather than the exception.

I am positive that this spirit will continue well into the future.

Ian Simpson
President 1997/1998

FINES - SOME WERE

P. Hennessy Jnr 3/83	Being a fines collector and losing the tin during the meeting.
Harry Warner 9/83	Being naturalised and not knowing whether he wanted to be an Arunta or a Binderoo.
David Jones 9/83	For breaking silence, without uttering a word, whilst his partner was putting.
David Treharne 11/83	For wearing the smile of a tiger and basking in the glow of his sons participation in winning the America's Cup.
David Gilchrist and Harry Warner 11/84	Marking their own cards because they considered their opponents on the day to be untrustworthy
Pat Purcell 7/85	Whilst playing from a sloppy lie did transform Jack Gaudron into a mobile swamp.
Peter Grimes 3/87	Arriving at Lizards in a chauffeur driven MG, having Garry Bird as luggage, having Jessie doctored, and wearing poofter pants.
Neil Shackle 4/87	Having a female persons knickers tied to the side of his buggy in a scalp like display.
Terry Hills 8/87	Living in Terry Hills Road, Terry Hills.
Andy Warner 7/88	Washing his muddy golf balls in with the hotdogs at the halfway break.
Peter Grimes 8/88	An ungentlemanly reference to the amount of effluent contained in the Croupier's head.
Harry Warner 3/89	Wearing a parrot feather in one side of his hat, a sparrow feather in the other and playing like a turkey.
Wal Hill 5/89	Arriving at Lizards exactly a week early.
Harry Warner 5/89	Using a copy of the F.O.L. to pick up a dead cockroach.
Geoff Warren 11/89	As Assistant Caterer did provide too much water in the frankfurt cauldron and tongs too short to fish the little bursters out.
The Grizz 4/89	Arriving in non-mint condition.
Alan Lewis 11/90	Wearing a Humphrey Bogart hat and playing like Humpty Dumpty.
Geoff Warren 3/91	Remarked after clobbering a ball through Vicki's window while it was closed "it was only a seven iron."
Graham Bryce 4/92	Wearing jogging shorts to Lizards and being the slowest player on the course.

FINES - SOME WERE

Neville Meredith 11/92	Knocking over the food laden table and trying to set fire to the shed.
Bill Sheehan 2/93	Abusing the Chief Dobber for washing his golf balls in the hot dog water and drying them on the tablecloth.
Pat Purcell 3/93	Arriving at Lizards with a set of lawn bowls, wearing his name badge upside down and having the distinction of being the only living brain donor in the world.
Dan Whitehead 8/93	Housing his annual trophy - the Bradman, under his bed.
Bill Sheehan 9/94	Being apprehended by a security guard at the exit of the Maritime Museum. The guard thought he was an exhibit attempting to escape.
David Gilchrist 9/94	Advertising in the Tele-Mirror "rent a friend" section.
Michael Morgan 12/95	Lining up a 10 foot putt on the 16th, for a four pointer, and five putting for a wipe.
Wal Hill 1/96	Waiting until the second hole to have an airie.
Manfred Wagner 1/96	For asking "Is there a Lizards Day in January".
Matthew Castle 2/96	Scoring 51 points
Glen Castle 2/96	Having a son who had 51 points.
Denis Castle 2/96	Having a son, who had a son, who had 51 points.
Postie 2/96	Trying to charge Sid Goldsmith the annual membership fee, prior to becoming a member.
Jim Small 4/96	Complaining about the absence of the Lindenberg draw after bumping his head on it, as he walked into the shed and for his outstanding entry in the poofter socks award.
Bill Sheehan 5/96	Cooking the meat in the Weber with flames so high that Vicki called the bushfire brigade.
John O'Meara 2/97	Having 3 practice rounds at Avalon during the week.
Anthony Beale 4/97	In the true Lizards spirit, left his sick wife to come to golf on his wedding anniversary, and was awarded a "credit fine".
Bill Epps 4/97	Forgetting to bring his teeth.
Neil Shackle 11/97	Wearing headware more suited to use in a rice paddy.
Dave Collins 11/97	Being dressed like an ice cream salesman.
Wal Hill 11/97	Teeing up in a bunker.
Hart Schwarz 4/98	Standing under the Lindenberg draw board, asking "how do I find out who I am playing today?".
