SEPTEMBER

1973

Welcome to Printers Day on which those two terrific type-setters, that pair of purple prose printers, Townsend and Malm join together to bring you this fabulous day. Ah how right "Time" magazine was when it immortalised their work under the banner "Malm at Town's End : Town Ends Malm".

Nearest the pins will be on the 4th, 8th, 10th and second shot on the 5th.

Handicap variations are:

- Down 2 - Salliard, Smee, Hilton
- Down 1 - Jenkin
- Up 1 - Ehret, Lewis, O'Keefe, Plim,
Call-me-Ralph, Wotton
- Up 2 - Treharne, Sheehan

Today is also the first round of the Howard Lindenberg Trophy. This knockout competition will be conducted under the same rules as last year (see board for draw) and will doubtless prove as popular. Our thanks go to the Lindenegs for their support and interest.

Results of last month were -

Lizards	1st Phil Saillard 40 off 20
	2nd Martin Smee 40 off 23
Visitors	1st Chesty Bond 35 off 13
	2nd Jack Gaudron 33 off 32
Nearests	Gordon Donald, Peter Allen (twice) Jack Gaudron
Bradman	Biggles
Attendance	20 Members, 1 Life Member, 5 Visitors
Finance	A loss of $45 on the day

- Our beloved Captain Handicapper is really going through a blue period. Anyone who is foolish enough to let his Lizard out of sight is courting trouble but to turn up a committee meeting without your Lizard Thanks for the beers Al.
- Call Me Ralph (who is rumoured to be about to star in a recently filmed segment of Jack Nicklaus' "Lead age of Golf") wishes to warn tote bettors he will be playing bandaged and blinkered in today's round (Lewis will of course be playing with his Lizard and the Postie will be supplying the letters).
- If you're well insured Ray Hilton is an amusing fellow at golf. For example, at the first he drove his ball into the tree. Note tree not trees. Any amount of shaking said tree, which stands at 89° to the right of the tee, failed to dislodge the ball. Le Mon claimed the offending arbor was a golden cyprus, Hilton swears it is a tee tree.
- The following verse warning colts and fillies of the dangers of equine VD may have broader applications -

If you let your passions ride you
When you feel the urge to mate
Odds are that you'll find your chances
Finished at the starting-gate

If you have a jump regardless
Dread disease will run you close
Would you rather be a champion
Or be saddled with a dose

Fillies, we admire your beauty
Colts, we marvel at your strength
Those who dissipate their virtues
Often lose them by a length

Little stud with nostrils flaring
Modify your appetite;
Keep it for the one you fancy
Save your love - and serve her right.
