

FLAT-OUT LIKE...

FIRSTLY, SOME SOUND ADVICE FOR LIZARDS ...

Since you cannot refrain from drinking, why not start a hotel in your own home. Be the only customer and you won't have to buy a licence. Give your wife $28 to buy four cartons of beer. Buy all your drinks from your wife at 20 cents per glass. At the end of seven days (when all the grog is gone) your wife will have $28 to buy four more cartons of beer plus $10.40 to put in the bank. If you live for twenty years and continue to buy all your drinks from your wife, then die in your golf boots, your widow will have $20,820; enough to bring up your children, pay off the mortgage on your home, marry a decent man, and forget she ever knew a drunken Lizard like you.

Did you know - this month we celebrate "Lifers" Day with a 4 B.B.B.B. competition and also you can score an extra point towards that special trophy by not having neglected to bring a visitor.

And now a special mention of that seasoned Lizard Mac Meehan who not only runs the tightest golf tote known, but also runs the putting competition like Captain Bligh. Nevertheless, Eric produces very welcome funds out of his sporran each month towards that most excellent cause - the Lizards.

It was pleasant last month to hear the complimentary comments about the Royal Avalon greens. On investigation of this phenomenon it appears that while on leave of absence surveying the massage parlors of Bangkok, "Tee Tearer" Townsend also temporarily abdicated his second title of "Turf Tearer" granted because of his characteristic dance of glee or frustration depending on the result of each putt.

Naturally, this month's meeting will be given over to a personal report from the latest Lizard visitor to the exotic East, with the 20c entertainment fee from all those present going towards the Lizards touring fund.

And a timely note to remind all Lizards, especially the athletic ones - Sunday 22nd February is cricket match day, when we intend to again win the trophy from the Civic Club Cricket Club.

By the way your Ed. went alone as spy, when our cricket opponents played Bankstown Businessmens Club last Sunday and recommends we make them bat first and employ THREE barmen to ensure an adequate intake of liquid refreshment. I doubt the streaker who tore across Jubilee Oval last Sunday will be available for our match, due to effects of sunburn on the overexposed parts.

.....Now for the bad news.

Last month, despite the glee of the Captain Handicapper at having all but two Lizards score over 30 stableford points due to his egalitarian handicapping system, he failed to restrain at least two members who thoroughly exceeded their handicaps. However with appropriate paring of handicaps members Don Goozee and Roy Malm may well fail to reach the golden 30 points next time.

In January, Lizard winners were - Don Goozee with 41 points off 17
- Roy Malm with 40 points off 17

Even the visitors need watching with -
Bob Parker - 39 points off 24
and Norm Tardiff - 38 " " 24

Nearest the Pin 4th Hole - Don Goozee
9th Hole - Gordon Donald

Nearest the Pin Second Shot - Gordon Donald

Straightest Drive 3rd Hole - Paul Hume

Bradman Winner - Chook expert George Bird - fortunately he sold more tickets than he scored points. 24 points off 8.
George also received the Secretary/Treasurers trophy as consolation.

Despite holiday times, January meeting was quite good with 21 Lizards, six visitors and three Lizardowlers in attendance in traditionally perfect weather. Now holidays are over - no more excuses for absence from Lizards. Which brings up a critical point - remember any lizard missing three (3) meetings without genuine excuse - goes on the mat. Please explain or else!

And on this February day dedicated to life members, we expect all players to play their best shots on:

1st and 9th Holes (nearest the pin).
2nd Hole (nearest the pin second shot).
Straight Drive - 3rd hole.

By the way, have you noticed the progress on our "Eclectic" competition lately? A titanic struggle seems to be developing between 4 or 5 members all striving to reach the elusive 50 strokes nett. May the best golfer win.

God Bless

Editor.

P.S. All you oldies should note - March meeting is Annual Father and Son day - this includes Sons, Sons-in-Law, Grandsons or any other MALE of the line. With 36 Lizards and 36 assorted Sons March should be a bonanza day for the Lizards.

P.P.S. Special note re April meeting. Traditional third Sunday is Easter Day - No! Fourth Sunday is Anzac Day - No!! So please TRY to remember April meeting will be on SECOND Sunday in April i.e. April 11th. You will be told just once more.

... AND AS ALL GOOD LIZARDS WOULD SAY ...

"I always have one before treeing off..."
