

Gentlemen, Good Morning. Welcome to Foundation and Life Members Day. Particularly, a warm welcome is extended to those life members and previous Lizards who have come out to join us today. We trust you will have a good day and thank you for your continued interest in the Club.

January saw the final round of the Lindenberg trophy with victory going to Alan Lewis, despite Toby Webbs best endeavours. Well done Alan.

February is the start of the 4BBB competition. Partners will be drawn prior to the start. Members are not required to alter the method of marking their cards and should continue as usual to putt out on all greens. Alan will sort out the result from the cards.

The usual Lizards competition continues with the Goozee's donating the monthly prizes. Nearest will be on the 1, 8, 13 and second shot 18.

Handicap variations are:

Up 3	Goozee, Gaudron
Up 2	Biggles, Campbell, Jenkin
Up 1	Wotton
Down 1	Bird
Down 2	Epps, Lewis, Le Man
Down 3	Donald, Townsend
Down 4	Smee, Atkins, Saillard, Hilton
Down 5	Sheehan

What a day Bill Sheehan had last meeting. In superb golf conditions Bill snatched up his first win in ages and had the extra satisfaction of outpoint a, quote, "proper professional golfer". Great stuff. The combination of Royal Avalon, Bill and the old ale left said pro looking stunned but happy.

The club championship is developing into a tight event with nine members within eleven points of the current leader Roger Ehret (57 points).

8/3 π R²

- Lizard Atkins sat next to the Editor watching his son-in-law standing on the first tee making various obscene gestures at a golf ball with a seven iron. To fill in time until his son-in-law actually hit the ball Atkins conducted the following conversation

A. "That man goes to bed with my daughter"

E. "Not to worry. Any man who has covers on all his golf clubs probably takes equal care in bed"

A. "Yeah well if he was in bed with your daughter, you wouldn't be so sure."

Its not that Atkin's logic worries me; its his death wish in laying rubbish like this on an Editor short of copy.

- All members are requested to ensure their behaviour at Lizards is a credit to the Club.

K. Campbell
Coroner
Acting Editor
(Vice Martin
Smeed).