

FLAT OUT LIKE

MARCH, 1997

WELCOME to SMALL/RAYNER DAY Mk3; the second round of the LINDENBERG K.O. COMP; and, on the eve of St. Patricks' Day, our first breath of autumn.

JIM and GRIZZ became co-donors about the time Jim was indentured as apprentice Lizard Victualler. He has been honing his skills since then by pouring pints for Bradman, dispensing downers for winners, aeries and other deserving occurence. Entering the last few years of his training, Jim is looking forward to becoming a Master Victualler by the year 2000! Our thanks to both donors for todays prizes.

RAFFLE Nick Petolas

AERIES included Ian Simpson, Wal Hill and Nick Petolas.

HOLE in ONE for GREG ELKS! Greg missed out on a 5 pointer on the par 5 17th - by missing the crucial putt - but made no mistake on the 129 metre 18th with a high flying, soft landing ACE - which netted him the elusive 5 pointer. The ball, a Titleist 100, is being mounted and will be presented during Greg's next sortie from Queensland.

ANDY WARNER having weathered a 21 month winning drought, which included two consecutive Bradman scores, has bounced back with a brace of success in the past four competitions. Well played Andrew.

GEOFF WARREN, country Member and resident of New Zealand for the past 2 years, celebrated his return to full membership with a neat 38 pointer. Welcome back - thanks for the fresh supply of LIZARD ZACS and sorry about your fine for having a Kiwi accent.

VISITOR MARK URE earned his second trip to the pay window since Christmas.

WAL HILL'S Bradman image is fading - he has not been the most consistent wearer of the Hat over the past 12 months and has made the winners list for shooting the best front nine. Keep up the good work Walter.

CHEF-CATERER IAN SIMPSON was fined for forgetting to bring the meat for lunch and again for suggesting the Lizards should pay him a share of Tiger Wood's appearance money.

THE CHIEF DOBBER donated $2, if Ian would take it as disappearance money.

THE MANGROVE MOUNTAIN MEMORIAL MANOEUVRE to the 5363m. bushland setting, on Sunday 2 March, was well attended by 13 members and 3 visitors.

THE MANGROVE CARTESIAN failed to provide golf carts for the hit-off, but managed to mobilise the players for the second nine.

NON. COMBATANTS Gordon Donald and Andy Warner were left cart blank and unfortunately were unable to view the competition from close quarters - in fact they were left bar bound.

WINNERS on the day were:

1st	Matthew Castle	43 Points off 30 Handicap
2nd	Jim Small	36 Points off 16 Handicap
Long Drive	2nd	Steve Smith

MATTHEW CASTLE, undaunted by the testing layout, kept his head down and played the course without restraint. His game plan worked, and he coasted in by seven shots.

MOUNTAINEER JIM SMALL thought he had ~~the~~ long drive on the 2nd, thumping a good one down the narrowing fairway - until Steve Smith, with no regard for the encroaching forest, slammed his ball 30 metres farther down the track.

THE GENERAL feeling at the end of the day was that Mangrove Mountain was well worth another visit.

NEXT MONTH is NEIL SHACKLE DAY and the LINDENBERG QUARTER FINAL.
