MARCH 1999

WELCOME TO DAVID RAYNER MEMORIAL DAY - a timely reminder that the GRIZZ is still around - and will be as long as the Lizards exist. Jim will be providing the trophies today and keeping the program on course. Hats off to both.

PEG RAYNER, Dave's mother, has presented the Club with a memorial trophy, to be played for annually. Jim Small will tell us more about it at the meeting

TODAY is the first nose to toes encounter for the qualifiers in the Lindenberg K.O. comp. The draw for the first round is

Ken Bond
Neil Shackle
Michael Harrison
Jim Small
Geoff Warren

THE AIRIES were a select duo - The Vice-President and Club Captain.

NEIL broke his shackle for the first time since Dec. 94, when he won with 44 points off 12! The nearest he had been to the top spot since then were two second placings - one in 96 and the other in 97. Congratulations Neil.

GRANT SCHWARZ, runner up the previous month, blasted the visitors with 43 big ones. Hart must be force feeding his progeny from his own menu of finer points.

BRUCE HOWE was fined for making a habit of knocking off the long drive.

FINES, some were:

Manfred not passing the ladies tee with his tee shot on the 8th.

Jim Small hitting a professional lob onto the 5th green, then 4 putting for a wipe.

Neil Shackle stating "I only had 42 today - I missed a lot of putts".

Ian Simpson thinking the attire for the day was fancy dress and course abuse - by turning up

NEXT MONTH is SHACKLE DAY. Neil seems to spend half his time in aerial orbit - we hope he will be over the Tasman Sea Area and able to drop into Avalon, blow the pea out of the starters pistol, and join in on the day. We will be looking for Neil, as well as some visitors, in April.

Good Golfing..... Bill Epps, Editor..
