MAY 2019

Welcome to President's Day

(Quarter Finals of the Lindenberg)

Our erstwhile President Rob O'Brien has largely had a clean year, other than being caught in multiple locations impersonating a dentist. That aside, most members would agree that he provided us with good leadership and a lot of fun. Thanks for your efforts Rob, and keep up the good work.

POSTIE MEMORIAL DAY, with 17 Lizards and no visitors, produced the following results:

Ian Massey didn't mind losing two shots off his handicap in February. He just resolved to up his game, and it worked, scoring 41 points to see him hold off a fast finishing Sean Milliss for the major prize. There probably wasn't much more Sean could do on his way to second place – his 4 points on the 18th just weren't enough.

Dave Dunworth looked as surprised as anyone when he was announced as the day's Scratch prize winner. We don't often see 13 points take this out, but that was the highest score (with a minimum 36 points after handicap) that didn't win either first or second place.

Wal Hill saw a return to wearing the Bradman's hat once again. While not his worst score as a Bradman it was below his long term average, which is 23.25 over the past 17 years. Speaking of years, August 2019 will mark the 10 year anniversary of the Lizards moving to North Turramurra GC! Who would have thought?

Lindenberg Update

After the washout in March the first round of the Lindenberg was postponed to April. Due to either bad luck or poor management this saw a number of no shows, but a couple of spots were filled by reserves. It also means that the Lindenberg final will not be held until the July meeting, but this has happened before. We wish all 7 competitors this month (Keith has a bye) the best of luck in the Quarter Finals.

Fines of the Day

Stretch	In fear of today's massive field left the hole in one tin at home
Sean Milliss	Buttering his roll with the tongs when a full selection of knives was in front of him
Jim Buckenham & Garry Bird LM	Giving each other golfing instructions on how they corrected their slices. They both proceeded to slice their shots off the first tee.
Ivan Tiltins	Unhappy with the state of the bunker on the 16 th decided to water it himself
Sean Milliss	Found a ball initialled with MM. When it was suggested to him that it might belong to Michael Morgan he replied "no problem, he's already left the course"
